RE: FAREWELL MESSAGE TO STAKEHOLDERS FROM INSETA CEO, NADIA STARR

Dear INSETA Stakeholders

Kindly be informed that my term as CEO ends on 30 November 2020. After 11 years with INSETA I am both excited for the new challenges ahead and profoundly sad to depart.

I met many of you when I joined the INSETA in 2009 as the QCTO project manager, and I am immensely proud of the work that we did in partnership with the sector in writing and reviewing occupational qualifications that will enable transformation, mobility and progression.

Most of you would have felt my unwavering nature in your engagements with me in the ETQA and Learning Divisions, and I hope, that although stern, I was always perceived as fair and transparent.

My time as CEO was both challenging and immensely rewarding. I found support in surprising places and I enjoyed impactful engagement and partnerships with the sector.

I will fondly remember and miss those of you who passionately supported the rollout of INSETA projects in rural areas, those who worked tirelessly (and not without arguments) on our qualification development projects and many others who have volunteered time, energy and expertise in guiding our newly established research initiatives and many other sector engagements and interventions over the years.

I have been honoured and humbled to lead this organization and to do so with real support and graciousness from the sector. I believe that INSETA is well on its way to becoming a beacon of performance and governance and I am proud to have been part of its trajectory of excellence.

Yours in skill development.

Nadia Starr
